Flowing Connections

This playground is defined by continuous movement into and through the space. Entering from the neighbourhood, you will be led into a small plaza alongside the street frontage that is separated from the play areas. Beyond here, you will walk up into the site to a more centrally located plaza that is positioned to provide views to the baseball field and easy access to the amenities in the arena building while also providing good views of the playground for caregivers supervising children at play. The main play areas are connected together for a unified playground feeling. The style of this design is flowing in its movements.
