	from judicial review or that the decision is currently under review NOTE: When a household accepts a subsidized housing unit or a rent supplement or housing allowance, the Housing Provider/Rent Supplement Clerk will request current verification of status in Canada for each member of the household.
Tax Based Net Income	RGI assistance is calculated based on the Adjusted Family Net Income (AFNI) of the family unit or benefit unit in a household. AFNI is the total annual net income of each adult member of a household or benefit unit required to file income taxes divided by 12 months (excluding the income of full-time students). The income tax return shall be the first and primary source used to determine the Net Income of a household member. Housing Providers should encourage households to register for a My CRA Account to have ready access to their most recent NOA or Proof of Income Statement.
Verifying Tax Based Net Income	Line 23600 shall be verified using either of the following documents issued by CRA: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Proof of Income Statement (Option Print 'C' from My CRA Account) or • Notice of Assessment (NOA) The Proof of Income Statement is preferred, as it summarizes all the income and deductions for the tax year; it does not mean that income tax has been deducted from the gross income.
Determining the correct tax year	The tax year used to determine an individual's Net Income is different depending on when the initial calculation or annual RGI review is conducted. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • For reviews conducted between January and June, the RGI is based on net income (Line 23600) from the tax year before the previous year. • For reviews conducted between July and December, RGI is based on net income (Line 23600) from the previous tax year. In all circumstances, tax-based net income should reasonably reflect the average amount of income over the next 12 months. If it does not, approximated net income may be required.
Approximated Net Income (ANI) or "Best Estimate"	If the tax-based net income does not accurately reflect the average amount of income expected to be received by the household member over the next 12 months, then Housing Providers may use the Approximated Net Income method (ANI).

When to use the Approximated Net Income

The ANI is an amount that best approximates a person’s net income for the next 12-month period, calculated and adjusted in a manner like tax-based net income.

The ANI may be used to calculate income in the following circumstances:

- At move-in, if a household member(s) does not have a current Proof of Income Statement or Notice of Assessment and at the sole discretion of the Service Manager (or housing provider if delegated)
- At annual RGI review, if the tax-based net income amount does not accurately reflect the current average income (e.g. a new job was started since the last tax assessment was done).
- At in-year reviews, if there is only one source of income changing and the other sources remain the same. The income that remains the same would not be approximated and the tax-based net income would continue to be used.
